

"LOOK HERE," "SONNY"

TRAMP THEN PUT DYNAMITE CARTRIDGE ON STOVE

IN A COLORED MAN'S HOUSE AT SPRINGFIELD, O.

BOY'S HAND NEARLY TORN OFF.

And Two Smaller Brothers Injured.
Police Arrested the Villain Who Carried Four Cartridges.

Springfield, O., April 17.—This morning a white tramp entered unbidden the house of Joshua Allen, colored. Arthur Allen, aged 14, discovered him sitting by the kitchen stove. The tramp demanded something to eat and was refused. He then said: "Look here sonny; see what I have. It will make a pretty light." He pulled a tin tube two inches long from a pocket, placed it on the stove and ran out of the house. Arthur was standing near the stove and two smaller brothers on the opposite side. The tube exploded, tearing Arthur's left hand nearly off, and cutting the others about the head and filling their faces with powder. The police arrested the men later. He had four dynamite cartridges in his pocket.

GENERAL BROOKE

Soon to Succeed General Miles, It is Said—Miles' Enforced Retirement
Believed to be Near.

Washington, April 17.—The enforced retirement of General Miles is now near. The War department has already prepared the order assigning Major General Brooke to the command of the army, and meanwhile the President is preparing a paper to show in how many instances General Miles has been derelict in his duties. This record will go back to a time preceding Miles succeeding General Schofield as the General in command.

It will set forth that in 1894 when General Miles was in command at Chicago, he was so averse to carrying out the orders of the War Department at the time of the labor strikes there that he barely escaped court-martial at the hands of the Cleveland administration, and from that day to this he has committed many acts that would have resulted in court martial if committed by any other officer of the army.

The President now regards General Miles as a mischief maker and his persistence in aiding in every way possible those who are criticizing the government policy in the Philippines is such a flagrant violation of military rules and etiquette that it is felt to be absolutely necessary to get rid of him by the shortest possible method.

Speaker Roasted.

Washington, April 17.—Congressman Chesman, Rep. of Washington, handed out a red-hot roast to Speaker Cannon today. He said to do any business here one must first make terms with the speaker. All the jokes that cluster around the holy of holies of Solomon's temple look like 30 cents when compared to the offer of speaker. The people pay 50 cents to see a company of Lilliputians when they can see us for nothing. The speech was drowned in laughter and applause not alone from Democrats.

AMENDMENT

Offered by Judge Overturf Was Declared Out of Order—Thompson Bill Passed Senate.

Columbus, O., April 17.—When the Thompson bill, making clear the right of interurban railroads to condemn private property, came up in the Senate, Senator Overturf, of the Licking-Delaware district, offered an amendment to repeal the law allowing interurbans to run upon public highways, and compel them to build entirely upon their private rights of way, the same as steam roads.

President Nippert declared the amendment out of order. The bill was then passed by a vote of 18 to 8. As passed the bill only confers the right of eminent domain outside of municipal limits. The present law only allows them to operate upon public highways. The Thompson bill adds private rights of way.

CHINESE EXCLUSION EXTENDED BY THE SENATE

NEW MEASURE WAS KILLED ON WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

Vote Was Then Unanimous—House
Adopts Resolution Closing Cuban Reciprocity Debate.

Washington, April 17.—The drastic Chinese exclusion bill originally framed by the senators and representatives from the Pacific coast states met defeat in the senate and in its place was substituted a measure offered by Mr. Platt of Connecticut, extending the provisions of the present exclusion law and also applying that exclusion to all insular territory under the jurisdiction of the United States.

The vote by which the substitute took the place of original bill, was 48 yeas to 38 nays. Once the substitution had been made all senators joined in its support with the single exception of Mr. Hoar, the substitute being passed 76 to 1.

The friends of the substitute showed their strength throughout the voting on amendments that preceded final action and succeeded in preventing any material change in its features. Some minor changes were made admitting Chinese persons connected with national expositions, and providing for certificates of identification of Chinese in our insular possessions. Otherwise, however, the substitute was adopted substantially in the form that Mr. Platt presented it.

The Senate after disposing of the Chinese exclusion bill made the Philippine civil government bill the unfinished business.

RECIPROCITY VICTORY.

Washington, April 17.—The friends of the Cuban reciprocity bill won a substantial victory in the house by carrying a motion to close general debate on Friday at 3 o'clock. The vote was 153 to 173. Thirty-three Republicans voted against the motion but this defection was offset by thirty-two Democrats who voted with the Republicans for it.

The strength of the Republican opposition to the bill, judged by its vote has decreased six since the vote was taken on the motion to go into committee of the whole to consider the bill when the vote stood 167 to 80.

WALLER'S PENSION BILL.

Washington, April 17.—Only about 15 members were present this morning at 11 o'clock when the House convened to continue consideration of the Cuban reciprocity bill.

The House received a message from the President returning without his approval the bill passed to pension Thomas F. Waller, of Philadelphia. First Lieutenant Company A, 91st Pennsylvania, who for disobedience of orders in refusing to go on picket duty, was cashiered in 1865.

Howard's Trial.

Frankfort, Ky., April 17.—The Berry Howard trial was resumed at 9:30 a.m. this morning. The first witness was Dr. James R. Ely, who at the trial of Goebel. The morning session was taken up with proof of the shooting and conspiracy.

STEADILY

BELGIUM STRIKE MOVEMENT IS SPREADING

OVER 300,000 MEN ARE NOW ON STRIKE.

Small Disturbances Occurring in Various Parts of the Land—The Railways are Affected.

Brussels, April 17.—Two prominent lawyers, M. DeSwaerte and M. Gehude were today summoned before the council of war for refusing to serve on the guard civique. An incident illustrating the earnestness of the socialists occurred today. A socialist master painter named Smalens advised his force of 75 workmen to join the strike. They promptly followed his advice. The strikers in the coal fields are seriously affecting the railways. The administration has ordered that the roads stop carrying all freight except what is absolutely necessary. Reports received from the provinces today show that the strike movement is steadily spreading.

Brussels, Belgium, April 17.—Disturbances are reported from various parts of the country. Small bombs were exploded at Liege and elsewhere. The strike is spreading at Brussels. Last night it was announced that 300,000 men were out on strike in the district of Mons, Charleroi and Liege alone. Many men have stopped work in other sections of the country, but it is difficult to accurately estimate their number. It is known, however, that 5,000 men have struck at Antwerp. Prince Albert, son of the Count of Flanders and heir presumptive to the throne of Belgium, is a Major in the Grenadier Guards, at present held in readiness for emergencies. The Prince declined a proposition to be replaced temporarily. He said: "If my men are called to a post of danger it will be my duty to lead them."

Rain dampened the Belgian rioters and no demonstration followed the dull debate on the suffrage question in the chamber of deputies. The troops are crowding Brussels.

STREET CAR

Employees of 'Frisco Demand 25 Cents an Hour and 3500 May go on Strike Friday.

San Francisco, April 17.—Thirty-five hundred street car employees presented a demand to the United Railway Company asking for a flat rate for motormen, gripmen and conductors of 25 cents an hour for ten hour day. Unless the demands are acceded to by 2 p. m. Friday the men will go out. They now receive $2.50 for eleven and a half hours.

Amalgamated Convention.

Wheeling, W. Va., April 17.—The Amalgamated Association convention will not get down to business for some time because the reports of the committee on rules and contested seats are out. Opposition to Shaffer seems to be on the increase in spite of his efforts to allay it. It would not surprise those who have good knowledge of the situation, were the convention to repudiate Shaffer, elect a new president and demand a higher wage on sheet tin and for puddling.

PRESIDENT'S NOMINATIONS.

Washington, April 17.—The President today nominated brigadier general the following: Col. Chas. Bird in charge of transport service, Col. Wm. Ammah, 24th Infantry and Col. Simon Snyder, 24th Infantry.

One of the Ostend steam trawlers after but 12 days at sea returned to port with a catch which sold for over £457. The haul and the price set a record for the town.

WANTON BUTCHERY

OF THE FILIPINOS BY THE SOLDIERS

AWFUL STORY TOLD BY CORPORAL O'BRIEN TODAY.

MORE ABOUT THE "WATER CURE"

O'Brien Declares It Was a Common Practice Among Officers in the U. S. Army.

New York, April 17.—Richard O'Brien recently corporal of company M, 26th U. S. Volunteers, in a statement published here today says that the barbarous "water cure" was a common practice with the officers of the U. S. army in the Philippines. He tells of other alleged horrors, including abuse of Filipino women and the massacre of unresisting townsfolk.

Corporal O'Brien enlisted from his home in North Adams, Mass., but is now living at 1791 Amsterdam avenue, this city. He declares his willingness to testify to the facts he sets forth. O'Brien severely arraigns officers and men but apologizes for the doings of the latter by saying the undignified actions of the officers in many instances, is responsible for the brutality displayed by the soldiers.

Telling of the frightful and wanton butchery of the natives, encouraged and countenanced by the officers, Corporal O'Brien tells this awful story of the visit of the troops to the village of the town of Barrio La Nog. "As we approached the town the word passed along the line that there would be no prisoners taken. This was significant. The first shot was fired by the then first sergeant of our company. His target was a mere boy. The shooting attracted the villagers, who came out of their homes in alarm. They offered no offense, did not display a weapon, made no hostile movement whatever, but they were ruthlessly shot down in cold blood, men, women and children."

THE "WATER CURE."

Washington, April 17.—Edward J. Davis of Greenfield, Mass., formerly a sergeant in the Twentieth United States Volunteers, testified this morning before the Senate committee on the Philippines as to the application of the "water cure" to the president of the town of Igarlis, Iloilo province, island of Panay. He gave the facts as were formerly described by Sergeant Reilly, his testimony differing only in slight details from that of the preceding witness. He said that Capt. Glenn, Lieut. Conger and Dr. Lyon, the contract surgeon, were present. The victim was kept under the tank for five to ten minutes. When he swelled up from the water the men who were giving it to him took their fists and rolled his stomach making the water squirt out of his mouth. He struggled terribly and his eyes were bloodshot. In response to cross-examination by Chairman Lodge, the witness said that after the administration of the water cure the presidente confessed that he was a captain of the insurgents, while professing to be friendly to the Americans. He was not hurt apparently by the "water cure."

CHARLES YOUSE

Not Surprised at the Statements Made by O'Brien —He Talks of the "Water Cure."

In regard to the cruelties practiced by American soldiers in the Philippines against the natives, Charles Youse, who was a member of the 17th regiment, stationed in northern Luzon, states today that he has been natives of all classes treated to the "water cure." If a Filipino was captured, and refused to talk, various methods of torture were employed to force him to tell what he knew. The "water cure" was one, and consisted in putting a stick or something else in the mouth in such a way as to hold it open, and the water was then poured down the throat. He never saw

GOES OVER FOR AT LEAST TWO YEARS

Not Enough Votes to Pass It This Session.

Bill Introduced to Have New Code
Commission Appointed—It Passed to Second Reading.

Columbus, O., April 17.—The Pugh-Kibler municipal code was given its death blow, so far as the present session of the legislature is concerned Wednesday.

On motion of Mr. Willis of Hardin county, the bill was referred to Mr. Comings of Lorain, with leave to report at any time. This was done by agreement and it is understood that Mr. Comings is to report the measure to the next legislature for its consideration.

In making the motion Mr. Willis said that he did not do it with the intention of killing the bill, but simply to save it from sure and certain defeat. The motion was made as the result of a conference held Wednesday after Mr. Comings had made a complete poll of the house and found that he could muster but 40 votes for the measure, 16 less than a constitutional majority. Judge Thomas of Huron, seconded the motion in a speech in which he extolled the idea of reform in municipal government and said that further revision of the code would probably result in the drafting of a measure which could be enacted into law.

Mr. Comings, who has worked long and faithfully on the measure, giving up almost all of his time to its consideration and delving deep into all authorities of the government of municipalities, said that he agreed to the reference. "I have lived, eaten and slept with the code for the past four months," he said. "In concurring on this motion I do not agree to the death of the code nor of municipal reform. I have done my best to get an understanding of its provisions, and believe I am familiar with them. The time is rapidly approaching when it will be necessary to pass some uniform system of government for the cities and villages of Ohio, and the code bill will be enacted. Before the end of the session I expect to offer a resolution which will keep this matter before the people of the state. I accept the trust of the code and will give all I have learned of it to the next general assembly."

Mr. Price took a parting shot at the bill, saying that it was altogether bad and he was glad that it was to be decently interred. The Willis motion was then adopted and the code referred to Mr. Comings. After the poll of the house had been taken Mr. Comings communicated with James R. Garfield, who consented to the postponement when he found that there was no hope of the code passing the house. Mr. Comings said that the agitation for reform in municipal government would not be allowed to die out, and that he expected the next general assembly to enact a uniform law for the municipalities of the state.

Mr. Comings and Mr. Garfield were in conference. As a result Mr. Comings introduced in the afternoon a bill to authorize the governor to appoint a commission of four persons, who with the attorney general shall revise the laws of the state relating to municipalities, prepare a new code and report to the governor before the next session of the assembly. The bill appropriates $5000 for the salaries and expenses of the commission. It passed to second reading without opposition, under a suspension of the rules, and was made a special order.

It is reported that the Macedonian outlaw Sarafos recently deposited $20,000 at a bank at Odessa. It is supposed that the money was derived from Miss Stone's ransom.

NEW STORY

In Connection With the Ravenna
Tragedy—Attempt to Murder
Vaughn Two Years Ago.

Ravenna, April 17.—Another story has leaked out in connection with the Vaughn murder. It is to the effect that an attempt was made two years ago to end the life of Colonel Vaughn, the aged and wealthy farmer who died several weeks ago, and over whose property his jealous son, William, is accused of having committed Sunday's tragedy by murdering his stepmother and her mother.

The story is that one evening while Colonel Vaughn was sitting near a window at his home a shot was fired and the bullet went whizzing through the glass and grazed the old man's head. He was not injured at the matter was kept quiet. It is now claimed that his son William attempted the crime two years ago. A special grand jury is being summoned to act in Vaughn's case and he will doubtless be tried this April term of court.

PRICE

OF MEAT PROHIBITIVE TO THE POOR

TWO HUNDRED SHOPS TO CLOSE IN NEW YORK.

Absolute Privation Confronts Many of the Poorer Class—Price of Meat Climbing Higher.

New York, April 17.—When the feast of the Passover is over next week at least 200 butchers on the East Side, the home of the mass of New York's poor, will be forced to close their shops because of the increased price of meat. The Hebrew butchers are keeping open now simply because the feast is on, but the business is gone, for the price is prohibitive. Thousands of people who have been accustomed to meat at least once a day are now living on cereals and bread. Cuts of beef which were a few days within their reach have gone up until they look like luxuries for millionaires. Absolute privation confronts the people.

With the increase in the price of meat there is also an increase in other food stuffs. Even in the middle class where meat was never even a comfort there is little purchasing of juicy loins of beef or thick slices of steak. Prices have risen 50 per cent in some classes of meat and 25 per cent in others.

Ohio May Treat Tuberculosis.

Columbus, O., April 17.—The House adopted the Harding Senate resolution authorizing the governor to appoint a commission to report as to the advisability of establishing sanatoria for the treatment of tuberculosis. The Guerin eight-hour day bill was defeated in the House by a vote of 41 to 38.

Republican Convention.

Columbus, O., April 17.—The Republican state central committee will meet at the Neil house next Wednesday to issue the call for the Republican state convention. The call was mailed today by Chairman Peter W. Durr from Cincinnati and provides for the holding of the meeting of the committee at noon on the day named. The date of the convention will be fixed and the appointment of delegates made. Governor Nash will be temporary chairman of the convention and Senator Foraker permanent chairman. The convention will probably be held at the Auditorium in this city on May 27 and 28.

CUT WIFE TO PIECES

THEN HACKED HIMSELF WITH A KNIFE

FAYETTE COUNTY JAIL SCENE OF THE CRIME.

NEGRO MURDERER HENRY CROSS

Asked to Have Wife Remain in His Cell and When Officers Left He Stabbed Her.

Washington C. H., Ohio, April 17.—Henry Cross and his wife are seriously wounded at the Fayette County Jail. She is literally cut to pieces and he has inflicted upon himself fatal wounds. The crime was committed by Cross with a barlow knife whetted to a razor edge.

At 5 o'clock last night Mrs. Cross, accompanied by Hon. D. I. Worthington and Lee Rankin, attorneys for Henry Cross, who had been in jail here since last February, awaiting his trial for the murder of nine-year-old Ralph Thompson, went to the county jail to see Cross. Their business there was to secure the signature of Cross and his wife to a deed for property owned by them, which was to be turned over in part to his attorneys for defending him in the Thompson murder case.

Cross asked Sheriff Phillips if his wife could not remain with him for a time. The sheriff answered that she could remain one hour.

To a short time the sheriff heard the prisoners making a desperate effort to attract his attention by shaking the jail door. He ran to the door and learning what was the matter, ran upstairs and found Mrs. Cross lying face down on the floor, while Cross stood over her, knife in hand, stabbing her in the neck and back as fast he could move his arm.

The sheriff was armed with a policeman's billy and rushed up to Cross, struck him two terrific blows on the side of the head before he could move him. Then, with the assistance of two of the other prisoners, he attempted to drag the bleeding woman along the corridor in the second floor between the two rows of cells to the iron stairway leading down to the corridor and cells below.

Cross made an attempt to stab the Sheriff, but the officer dodged and hit him three blows across the head to beat him back. The murderer fell partially over the stair railing, but caught himself by his leg and, thrusting his hand into his open shirt where he had concealed his knife, made another desperate attempt to cut his wife.

Pulling his revolver from his pocket, Sheriff Phillips aimed it at Cross and cried: "Stop, there, you black demon, or I'll blow your brains out."

This had the desired effect. Cross got down from the stairway and stepped back, while the Sheriff, assisted by several prisoners, carried the woman to his apartments. She was placed on a table and Drs. Hodson and Furry soon arrived and for four hours were engaged in soying up the wounds. There was a row of deep stabs and cuts entirely around her neck. In the back, just under and between the shoulder blades, are four deep stabs which penetrate the lungs, and from which the air is forced when the wounded woman breathes. In the breast were several stabs. She can live but a short time.

Before Cross had been thoroughly examined by the physicians he asked his comrades in the jail if he had better finish himself, and they advised him not to. It was found that he had cut his throat, but had not severed the jugular, and had stabbed himself in the breast several times. There is a chance for his recovery.

Postoffice Robbed.

Eaton, Ind., April 17.—Cracksmen robbed the postoffice safe last night. Fifteen hundred dollars worth of stamps, $200 in money, a diamond ring and other valuables were stolen.

POSTAL CURRENCY.

The Advocate has called attention to the postal currency proposition as a measure that would be of great convenience in business in many lines. It also indorses as an evident truth the opinion of the Farmer's Call of Quincy, Ill., that the proposed currency would be a great convenience to farmers, as they are not in reach of city facilities for getting small bills or money orders, and they ought to give the measure warm support. Unfortunately for the postal currency bills only the people, the plain, common people, would be benefited by the passage of those bills. On the other hand, at least one powerful moneyed interest—the express companies—would not be benefited and they can be counted on to oppose the passage of these bills. If we had such a convenient and cheap postal currency the demand for express money orders would be greatly lessened. But certainly the express companies are not entitled in any degree to the consideration of the people. We urgently recommend to every one of our farmer readers to write a strong letter at once to the congressman from his district and to the senators from his state in favor of the proposed postal currency. Keep this up. Farmers rarely appreciate the effect such letters have. They are very effective. The matter is of such importance to farmers and we hope that our readers will do their plain duty by writing the letters we suggest.

THREE GAS WELLS CAME IN FRIDAY

ONE HAS FLOW OF PROBABLY 2,000,000 FEET.

Well Nearest Utica is the Best—Utica Company Now Begins to Drill for Gas.

The gas well on the William Dunlap farm a mile and a half northwest of Utica came in Friday, says the Utica Herald, which adds:

Its owners, the Logan company, for business reasons possibly, endeavored to keep its volume a secret, and announced that "it didn't amount to much." Anyway they were so excited that they didn't even come to town for dinner, but remained at Dunlap's, and they piped the well to their main under cover of night. Word got out that the flow is more than two million feet a day, which places it among the best in the entire field. The force is so great that it is difficult to confine it, and on Monday it blew its packing out. This well is the nearest of all to Utica.

The Weaver well about a mile north of this Dunlap well, came in Friday evening and reports are that it is also a fine one. It also blew its packing out on Monday. It belongs to the Logan company.

One of the wells on the George Dunlap farm a little northeast of Homer also came in on Friday as a good one, estimated at about two million. It is owned by the Central Ohio.

The Utica Gas, Oil and Mining company composed of Utica citizens, on last Friday evening after hearing from the Dunlap well, decided upon a location for their first well. It is at the big spring on the Alsdorf land, about 100 rods west of the village limits, on the first terrace above the creek bottom. It is directly north of Mrs. Chas. Stinson's residence. The ground was staked off on Saturday and on Monday morning teaming of material to the spot was begun. Driller Kinsey who is experienced in the business, has said that he has as much faith in this location as anywhere in the known field—in fact he has no doubt of getting a good well.

WOLVES' RUN

To Be Made Sunday, April 20, to Lakeside via Hebron—Good Feast Will Follow.

Tuesday evening the Chief Howler of the Wolves Cycle Club rounded up the old greybeards and young cub, and decided to have a lops and feast, as they have been in their den all winter.

Therefore he ordered a young cub out early Wednesday morning to discover a good trail to the Great Waters to the southwest. He came back Wednesday noon with his fur badly ruffled and one thorn in his paw on account of encounter with many of the white man's dogs on the route. He decided on the following trail:

Sunday morning, April 20, the pack will assemble at the Chief Howler's den, with fur neatly combed and claws sharpened, and proceed by way of the old trail past the Red Men's fort, thence to Brother Wolf Bartholow's den at Hebron, where he will be waiting on the fountain of soda. Thence by the trail along the raging canal to the old Lakeside den of Brother Wolf Glass.

Brother Glass will have gathered some of the choice chickens from the white man's roost, and some of the fish from the Great Waters and a sumptuous feast will be had.

The cub reports a well beaten trail with the exception of the last mile, but Chief Howler thinks he lost the old trail by his cubish inclinations.

All Wolves and Cotes are cordially invited, as this is the first and opening of the season. By order of Chief Bone F. ker.

Value of Farm Land.

"The question is raised whether land that sells for $100 per acre can be farmed at a profit," says the Kansas Farmer. That such land is farmed at a profit is the proper answer. The further fact that good land is often farmed at a loss regardless of the selling price is not a fault of the land, but of the farmer. Many of the most profitable farms in Texas cannot be bought for less than $100 per acre, and the land is capable of earning a profit because it is worth that price.—Dallas Farm and Ranch.

A Handy Wicker Table.

She's a bachelor girl, and she lives practically in one room—that is, she must make her bedroom do duty for sitting room as well as sleeping apartment. Many another woman is situated the same. Of course, when one is receiving friends it is not pleasant to have the paraphernalia of the toilet in full view. Beds can be screened; so can washstands, though luckily this girl has a private bathroom, which does away with all towels, soap and washing arrangements in her reception room. But the toilet table is hard to get around. This clever girl achieved it in this fashion: She has a chival mirror, which really is not out of place and which all her girl friends delight in. Perhaps this glass is one reason she is so popular. Her visitors like to preen themselves before it.

When Miss Independent is dressing or arranging her hair or doing the hundred and one other things a woman must do to make herself presentable, she has a pretty, comfortable chair before her glass and at one side a double tier wicker table with a wide, arching handle, used often as a needlework table, but in this instance holding the impedimenta of the dressing table—brushes, combs, mirrors, bottles and the like. Thus she dresses herself at leisure, with everything to her hand, and when the operation is over she lifts her little wicker table and puts it out of sight, and her room is once more in attire fit to receive visitors. All the time consumed in putting each separate article away in nooks is avoided. And when she wants her articles they are as convenient and tidy as though spread out on the customary bureau or table top.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

What Do You Think of This Yarn?
The pet monkey of a German professor, having made his escape, climbed into a tree and defied all attempts to catch him. Well knowing the intuitive habits of the animal, his master lit on a curious plan to regain his pet. He looked at the monkey through an opera glass, pointing the small end at him for some time and then retired to a short distance, leaving the opera glass on the ground. The intuitive monkey descended from the tree and, taking the opera glass, gazed after a similar manner at his master, who seemed to the dejected ape to be half a mile distant. The monkey, still looking through the same end of the opera glass, supposed his master was several hundred yards distant when the latter, reaching out, secured the chain and led the victim of an optical illusion back to his cage.—Chatterbox.

Why She Was Thankful.

A little girl but four years old was observed to be very devout in church and to be very eager not to miss attending the services. "What do you do when you are there, Rosie?" asked a lady friend. "You cannot read and must get very tired of such long services." The little one shook her head gravely. "I am never tired," she said. "What do you say? Do tell me," persisted the lady. The child climbed on her knee and whispered with all her soul in her eyes, "I cannot go to church too often to thank God I was not born a boy."—New York Recorder.

STUDENTS IN PARIS.

AMERICANS IN THE MUSICAL, MEDICAL, ART AND OTHER SCHOOLS.

Twelve Hundred Young Men From the United States Are Studying Architecture Alone—On the Left Bank of the Seine.

[Special Correspondence.]
Paris, April 11.—What tragedy and comedy, what romance, what extravagance and poverty, what glorious aspiration and foolish frittering idleness are mingled like strange bedfellows in the collective life of American students in Paris!

There must be 10,000 of them, real and alleged. Away from the brilliant Champs Elysee, away from the beautiful square of the Grand Opera and the broad, white avenues whereon are the dwellings of the rich and the socially aristocratic, these students nest together on the historic old left bank of the Seine, which is far the most interesting quarter of Paris.

It is the poor rather than the rich young men and women who come from the United States to study in Paris. Some indeed are very poor, and the way they manage to live decently is surprising. One young man whom I honor above most persons is from a northwestern state. He is desperately poor on getting his diploma from the Paris School of Architecture, without a doubt superior to any other. Moreover, architectural knowledge is what more than any other kind, the Yankee nation needs at present. Anybody may attend the famous architectural school up to the age of thirty. After that he must get out and leave room for some other, even if he has not yet obtained his diploma.

The splendid chap I mentioned knows he must make hay while the sun shines. He has no time to remain out a year or two and earn money to go on again. So he arranges life for himself: He rents an attic room in an old but decent house for $40 a year. He furnishes it himself with a couch, a table and a couple of chairs. That has been his home for some three years. There he sits and draws and measures and calculates and draws and measures and calculates again during the hours he is not attending lectures. He makes his own coffee and eats a roll at home in the morning. That is his breakfast.

He takes his dinner at some of the neat and cheap restaurants, of which are scores in the old Latin quarter, or perhaps he buys half a chicken at a cookshop where all day long fowls are roasting upon a spit that turns by clockwork.

The Latin races are famous folk for performing domestic operations in the sight of all men. The cookshop has its whole front open to the street. In the rear, back of the little counter, is a long iron rod which turns perpetually above an open fire. Strung along upon this rod is a row of hollow bodies of dismembered chickens, always turning, always roasting, apparently till judgment day. A man in a cook's white cap tends the chickens; a neat, brisk woman stands at the counter and sells them. The cook is the husband; the saleswoman is the wife.

At other cookshops the specialty is hot sausage and fried potatoes, excellent in their way, as are also the rolls and bread of Paris. At yet other tiny shops are toothsome, soft, fresh cream cheeses unknown to Yankees. It is easy to purchase good cooked food. Many American students keep house like my young architect. He is a dandy of power and determination. He will make his mark, and a high one.

Girl students live in this same way, doing bachelor housekeeping, sometimes in little clubs of two and three.

Finally, if you want to learn the technical part of music, painting, sculpture, architecture or dramatic art, Paris is the place above all the world to do it. The finish of French pictures and statues is so superior to such work elsewhere that when an American who has lived some time in Paris goes home and looks at the art specimens there he is absolutely disheartened. The spirit is present, but the execution is painfully crude and clumsy. Yet in one particular, for our encouragement let us remember that our houses to live in are handsome, more comfortable and more convenient than those of any other people. BEN JOYCE

SHAKESPEARE'S AUTOGRAPH.

Specimen of Writing Believed to Be the Poet's in Boston Library. [Special Correspondence.]

Boston, April 11.—What may be the most valuable autograph in this country is curiously tucked away in the binding of an old copy of Sir Thomas North's translation of the "Lives" of Plutarch, dated 1603, which is owned by the Boston Public Library. If it is genuine, it is the longest and most important specimen of Shakespeare's handwriting in existence. There are two lines—the name "William Shakespeare"—and below it the words "hundred and twenty pounds."

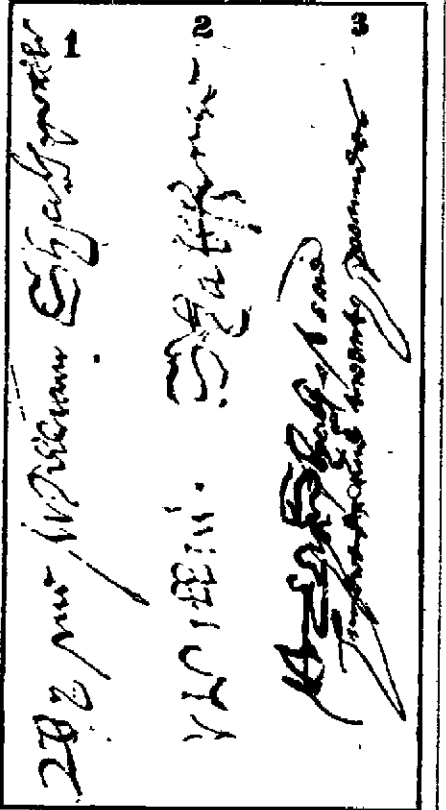

Judge Mellen Chamberlain, who was at the head of the library when the book in which these words appear was purchased, was a collector of autographs and had an expert's knowledge of them. It was his opinion, after a careful examination of the supposed Shakespeare writing and consultation with others who were regarded as authorities in such matters, that "the library autograph presents many reasons in favor of its genuineness and too few objections to warrant an adverse judgment."

There are but five authenticated autographs of Shakespeare in the world, and, although they were all written during the last three years of his life—three of them in one day, upon different pages of his will, which was drawn up just before he died—each varies greatly from the others. None of them shows the facility in using a pen which so prolific an author must once have had, for they are cramped and indicate painful effort in holding the pen, but there are certain distinguishing characteristics common to all of them which no forger has ever succeeded in imitating perfectly, though more than one has made the attempt.

In Shakespeare's time, it must be remembered, when crests and coats of arms were used generally as the sign of a man's identity, his signature was of much less importance than it is nowadays, and there seems to have been almost as little pains taken to form the individual letters of a name always after the same fashion as there was to spell it always in the same way, so that finding the more marked characteristics in a signature, even if there is no very strong general resemblance with another by the same hand, is the best proof of its genuineness.

The bit of writing discovered in the Boston library's copy of Plutarch is almost as bright and clear today as if it had but just been blotted, the lining of the cover, under which the slip of paper containing it was found, having protected it for 300 years from the fading effect of light.

Several of the marked peculiarities of the various authenticated signatures are strikingly apparent and show neither exaggeration nor unnatural emphasis. The penmanship is irregular and to a modern eye cramped, but the letters were evidently traced with firm pressure and not by a hand unaccustomed to forming the peculiar twists and turns which, after all, the most interesting part of the signature to any one who likes to think of an autograph as the lasting and peculiarly personal token of a human being.

The student of the antique will find in Boston and its environs many things instructive and interesting which frequently pass unnoticed. One of these is the famous old Boston oratory, once used in teaching physics and astronomy was originally intended to serve as an object lesson in astronomy by showing the actual movement of a miniature solar system, the various planets being supported on small upright posts and made to move in their appointed revolutions by mechanism that could be set in motion by turning a crank. The Boston oratory, purchased for Harvard with money obtained from a lottery that was authorized by the Massachusetts general court of 1781, was probably the eighth of these machines to be made.

One was made eighty years before the Christian era. Another was made in England about 1700 under the patronage of the Earl of Orford and thus received the name afterward applied to all similar apparatus.

The Boston oratory as it now stands in the museum of the Jefferson Physical Laboratory at Cambridge is a cumbersome, twelve sided structure, resting on wooden legs something like the legs of a small grand piano and covered with a domed glass top, through which the little solar system is visible. CHAS. W. EDWARDS HAS FATAL FALL

NEWARK IRON MOLDER KILLED AT COLUMBUS.

Falls Under Wheels of B. & O. Freight Train—The Accident Occurred Wednesday Night.

A dispatch was received here late on Wednesday night stating that Charles W. Edwards, an iron molder, who formerly worked at the Moser-Wehrle Company's Stove Works, this city, had been instantly killed in that city by falling under the wheels of a B. & O. freight train which he was attempting to board, and inquiring as to the whereabouts of his wife. The dispatch was delivered to Mrs. George Williams, who for some time has been keeping a boarding house at No. 30 Union street, and where Mr. Edwards formerly boarded. Mrs. Williams, having no knowledge of where Mrs. Edwards was, turned the dispatch over to the molder at the Moser-Wehrle works. Thursday morning an Advocate reporter called on Mrs. Williams but she was unable to furnish him with any information beyond the fact that Edwards formerly boarded with her, and that he had later resided on Wilson street, where his household goods still remained.

The reporter then called on Mr. Wehrle, who referred him to Mr. Jas. Tyner, a molder, who is secretary of the Iron Molders' Union of Newark. Mr. Tyner said that Edwards' home was in Gallipolis, O., and that he had worked for the Moser & Wehrle Co. for some seven or eight months, but that about two months ago he left for Waynesboro, Va., where he worked for some time; that recently he left for Kokomo, Ind., where he worked for a short time, and where his wife and children now are. He had been out of work for a few days and had started for Newark, where he hoped to secure employment at the Moser-Wehrle foundry. He had arrived as far as Columbus and was attempting to board a freight train to come to this city when he fell under the wheels and was killed. Mr. Tyner says that he belonged to the Iron Molders' Union, and was in good standing; that he was a first class mechanic, and that he was a sober and industrious workman.

Immediately upon the receipt of the news of his death Frank Mintz, a molder, left for Columbus to look after the remains and make arrangements for the funeral. It is not known at this writing where the funeral will take place. A dispatch was sent to Kokomo notifying Mrs. Edwards of the death of her husband.

The Columbus Journal gives the following account of the death of Mr. Edwards:

Charles W. Edwards, an iron molder, who is believed to have lived at 36 Union street, Newark, O., was instantly killed at the B. & O. crossing at Taylor avenue, at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Edwards, with an unknown companion, attempted to board an east-bound freight train and missed his grasp and fell beneath the wheels. His head was severed from his body, being held by only a few shreds of flesh. His right arm was also crushed.

The accident was witnessed by the crossing watchman, and he immediately summoned Coroner Lindsay and the patrol wagon. An examination of the unfortunate's clothing established his identity. He had an express receipt for a bundle of clothing which he had shipped Monday from Danville, Ill., to his home in Newark, a certificate of membership in the Iron Molders Union of Kokomo, Ind., and a membership card of the Modern Woodmen of America. He also had a fine gold watch, a revolver and $5.05 in money.

Edwards was apparently about 30 years old, weighed about 125 pounds, and was fairly well dressed. His remains were removed to the morgue and his wife in Newark was notified by the coroner. His companion disappeared almost immediately after the accident and the coroner and police were unable to locate him.

Mrs. W. A. Tippet of Columbus, who has been the guest of Mrs. Louise Irwin, 194 East Church street for some days, has returned home.

Albert Hahn, who has been suffering with hemorrhage of the throat for the past five weeks, is no better, and considerable apprehension is being felt by his friends as to the result.

PAINE'S Celery Compound

Is the Fountain of Health From Which the Disease Laden May Draw a Fresh Supply of Vitality and Health.

A Cure of Blood Poisoning That Has Commanded the Attention of Thousands.

Is your blood impure, poisoned, or sluggish? It must be if you have eruptions, boils, pimples, blotches, running sores, eczema or salt rheum. With such troubles and ailments the blood is fast carrying disease and death to the body.

To be clean, sound, vigorous, healthy and happy, you must use Paine's Celery Compound before the advent of the hot summer days. At this time the vitalizing and health giving work of Paine's Celery Compound shows quickly upon the blood, which is purified and made rich with nutriment that builds up the nerves and tissues.

Remember that "Paine's" is the kind that cures. At all times refuse the something just as good offered by some dealers.

Thousands of sufferers burdened with some form of disease, the result of impure and poisoned, impure or sluggish blood, will thank Heaven that their attention has been directed to the great fount of healing after a perusal of the following letter written by Mr. J. Argersinger, of 2722 14th avenue, Minneapolis, Minn.:

"Last winter I had blood poisoning, caused from a cut on my finger. This formed an abscess under my arm, and I was in the hospital for three weeks. At times I felt as though I was going out of my head. When I touched the end of my spine, I felt the shock in my head at once. My memory was poor, and I sometimes forgot my neighbors' names. Sometimes I had pains in my left side just below my heart, and a presentiment of evil was continually with me. Paine's Celery Compound has given me a new lease of life, and I hope others will try it."

A number of persons from this place and vicinity attended the Al Ewers sale last Tuesday.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and, therefore, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Remedy is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and cures the system. They offer One Hundred Dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

HIS BIG EARS

Disclosed His Identity—Fuller Pleaded Guilty to Embezzlement—Arrest Was Expensive.

Akron, O., April 17.—Frank E. Fuller the young agent of the Adams Express company at Hudson, who absconded February 7 with $5,000 in mutilated currency which an Akron bank was shipping to Washington, reached Akron yesterday in charge of G. A. Curtiss, superintendent of the Adams Express Company at Columbus, from Red Oak, Iowa, where he was captured Saturday. The young man pleaded guilty to grand larceny and was bound over to the grand jury. He devoted the rest of the day to playing a mouth organ. Fuller's brother Fred, who confessed to receiving $1,000 of the stolen money, is now locked up in Red Oak.

It was Fuller's unusually large ears which led to his capture. At St. Paul Curtiss found on a hotel register the name "F. L. Foster," the writing of which he thought he recognized as Fuller's, but the description of "Foster" did not tally with that of Fuller, till the landlord mentioned "Foster's" immense ears. "Fuller, beyond a doubt," said Curtiss and four days later he had his man.

"It is all off," said Fuller, when he saw Curtiss at Red Oak and at once had for some time contemplated getting away with a large sum. He denied there was a woman in the case. Only $125 of the $5,000 taken by Fuller was recovered. He had bought a billiard parlor in Red Oak and was living in luxurious fashion. His room was piled with jewelry, fine clothes, guns, knives and trinkets.

"He spent money like a ten year old boy might have done," said Curtiss, "and had a mania for month organs."

It cost the Adams Express Company $2,000 to apprehend Fuller. He is 22 years old and came of a respected family in Hudson.

CONTESTS

The Election of Marshall of Granville. Reasons Set Forth in Petition Just Filed.

Attorney J. Howard Jones Thursday afternoon filed a petition in the Probate Court, contesting the election of Moses James as Marshal of Granville. The case is entitled Ohio ex rel. Lafayette Bryant vs. Moses James. Bryant was the Democratic candidate for Marshal, while James was the Republican candidate. A mistake was made in printing the ballots, and the name read, "For Marshal, Moses Jones."

Some electors who wished to vote for James, detected the error and corrected it by writing the name, Moses James, and in this way he received 30 votes. The other 140 Republicans voted for Moses Jones and as there is no such man in Granville, Bryant, who received 96 votes, claims the office, and seeks to have James' election declared invalid by the court.

The County Board of Elections issued a certificate of election to Mr. James.

A DAY'S NEWS IN THE COURTS

NOTES OF DAY IN TEMPLE OF JUSTICE

Contested Election Case Filed in Probate Court—Matters Before the Circuit Judges.

The case of Frederic A. Paul vs. the B. & O. railroad was argued and submitted to the court on a demurrer to the answer. The action was brought to enjoin the railroad company from closing up part of Webb street, which has been vacated by the City Council until such time as the railroad company should condemn and pay the damage resulting from the vacation. Flory & Flory, Hunter; Kibler & Kibler.

The case of Honora Sullivan vs. The City of Newark, submitted to Court upon a petition in error. Action was brought to recover damages by reason of injuries received by Mrs. Sullivan in crossing the canal bridge on Second street in the year 1892. Smythe & Smythe; T. B. Fulton.

Upon motion of counsel for defendants, Smythe & Smythe, the Court suspended execution of sentence, pending error proceedings in supreme court in case of Ohio vs. Pearl Graff, Cora Vail and Lyda Branschoss.

The case of John P. Kelley vs. Wm. H. Mitchell et al. was submitted to the Court upon a motion to dismiss the appeal. Smythe & Smythe; Hunter, Black.

National Wagon Co. vs. Meyer Bros. & Co. decree for plaintiff, making the injunction perpetual. The action was brought to enjoin the collection of a judgment. Flory & Flory; Black.

Henry Scheidler vs. The Columbus, Buckeye Lake and Newark Traction Co., case dismissed in Circuit Court on motion of plaintiff and at his costs. The action was brought to enjoin the railroad from constructing its tracks in front of property owned by plaintiff near the fair ground, and resulted in the court below in a judgment in favor of the railway company, and plaintiff appealed. Black, Edward Kibler; Fitzgibbon.

NOTES ON SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK

COUNTY CONVENTION AT GRANVILLE, MAY 22-23.

Former President Bates Will be Present—See That Your Township is in Line.

The County Sunday School Convention will be held in Granville May 22 and 23. Rev. M. L. Bates of Warren, O., our former president will be with us, and give an address.

Mrs. A. G. Crouse of Westerville, O., State primary worker, will be present and give two addresses, conduct a primary workers' conference and lead a children's meeting.

A mistake. In question No. 26 on the Annual School Report blank the date should be 1901. In question No. 28 the date should be 1902. These mistakes have confused some.

Every school is asked for one offering a year for our county and state work. Has your school made its annual offering?

Let every school in the township send delegates to the county convention.

We have paid over $50 of our $87 for state work this year and we can pay the remainder.

The state normal secretary writes that Licking county is in line for the normal banner in the state this year. Let every normal student and class leader take notice and work accordingly.

Has your township association held a convention this year? The following townships must hold conventions soon or Licking county cannot take a place in the banner list of the state: Jersey, Licking, Lima, St. Albans, Franklin, Hanover, Fallsburg, Burlington.

Some of these have already planned meetings. There are also a number of other conventions to be held between now and the county meeting.

See that your township is in line. WILSON A. HOLMES, Sec.

We have several enquiries for well located dwellings at $1,200 to $1,800. List yours. REES R. JONES.

PERRYTON.

CHARGES FRAUD

Class Company Sued by Mr. Humphrey—Suit Has Been Filed at Coshocton, O.

Coshocton, O., April 17.—Alexander J. Humphrey of Cincinnati, has sued the Ohio Glass Company of Pittsburgh, or $5700. Humphrey claims he was induced to give up his position on representations made by the Ohio people that they were about to take up a $15,000 bonus given by the Coshocton board of Trade and erect a plant in Coshocton. He was to be general manager and superintendent of construction. He was to receive $200 a month and $2000 in stock and to purchase $2500 of the company's stock. He claims the company refused to perform its part of the agreement, and claims he paid $850 for stock, and has given an illegal certificate, without the seal of the company. He alleged the company was formed to defraud him of his money.

CLARENCE COONS

Elected Superintendent of Public Schools at Granville, Prof Leachy Having Resigned.

Granville, O., April 17.—At the last meeting of the Board of Education of this place Principal Clarence D. Coons was elected to the position of superintendent of the public schools, vice Prof. Leachy, whose term, as superintendent would not have expired until one but who was compelled to give up his position on account of ill health. The new superintendent is a Licking county boy, having been born and raised in Pataskala. He is a young man of exceptional ability is courteous and gentlemanly, and extremely popular with all classes. In the past the position of superintendent of the Granville schools has been filled by some of the best educators of the state, but it is safe to predict that none have ever served who have given better satisfaction or who have proved more efficient than Clarence D. Coons. He has the congratulations of all his friends.

Prof Leachy has moved his family to Columbus where he formerly resided.

THE FOOD PROBLEM

One That Each Must Solve for Himself to Maintain Health.

No man can lay down a list of foods for each person to eat. Some stomachs can digest one food, while it acts as a poison to others. Ordinary cooking does not properly prepare cereal foods for digestion and assimilation in human beings. Fruits and grains being the natural dietary of man, the nutritive elements of the grains must be brought as nearly as possible to the same state as that in which they are found in fruits. In other words, the raw starch of grains must be completely dextrinized. This change takes place in fruit during the ripening process. Grains require subjection to a temperature of three or four hundred degrees—much above the boiling point—to accomplish this.

By a new process an investigator has been able to prepare grains so they will be easy of assimilation by the weakest stomach. They are subjected to intense heat for several hours, which takes them through the first and hardest stages of digestion and places them into a condition to enter into their mission of supplying the daily loss in the brain and nerve cells. This new dainty product is called Malt-Nut. It has a delicious nutty flavor that makes it a permanent friend wherever used.

It can be served direct from the package with milk and cream, hot with three minutes cooking or into a score of dainty dishes. Leading grocers can supply it.

PEOPLE OF THE DAY

Head of the "Chicago Clique." A number of western speculators who work together in Wall street and who recently engineered several deals that made large windfalls for them are known as the "Chicago clique." They have sent on the exchange and are Johnny on the spot when there's anything doing. The older and more conservative members of the exchange sometimes speak in very uncompromising terms of the "Chicago clique," but the westerners go right along sawing wood and saying nothing, unless there is something in it.

JOHN W. GATES.

John W. Gates is the leader of the "Chicago clique," and all the world now knows him as a gritty speculator and an unrelenting fighter. There is a story to the effect that Gates is after everything in which J. P. Morgan is interested, when there is a chance, because Morgan vetoed Gates' ambition to be chairman of the executive committee of the steel trust.

Visits the Cemetery Daily. Passage of the bill allowing the widow of late President McKinley a pension of $5,000 a year and the suggestion that the bereaved lady may pay a visit this summer to the home of Mrs. Garret A. Hobart in Paterson, N. J., call attention to the daily life of Mrs. McKinley. She grieves deeply over her great loss. As one of her intimate friends said the other day: "For one comfort is her daily visit to the tomb of her husband. She seems to be living only in his memory and for the purpose of honoring him." For her convenience at the vault a rocking chair has been placed in the house of the dead near the casket. A heavy rug on the floor protects her from dampness, and she is always clothed in heavy wraps. According to frequent statements made by her attending physicians, Mrs. McKinley's general health is as good as it has been at any time for ten years.

MRS. MCKINLEY.

A Skillful Marksman. The most wonderful marksman at the capital is without doubt Senhor de Assis Brasil, the Brazilian minister. He began his apprenticeship in shooting on his father's ranch, where as a lad he was the constant companion of the rangers and hunters, whom he soon excelled at their own craft. Both for his own diversion and for the entertainment of his friends the minister still practices shooting. At home he uses a very small rifle and a delicate pair of pistols, but the weapon with which he has made the finest record is a French gallery rifle made in Paris after his own instructions. No professional, certainly, ever did more exact or delicate shooting than this accomplished diplomat, and his friends insist that he could make quadruple the income he receives as a diplomatist if he would travel about and give exhibitions. Mme. Brasil attests her confidence in her husband's skill by holding a card or a quarter of a dollar between her fingers as a target.

Ellen Terry's Life on the Stage. Ellen Terry, known in private life as Mrs. E. A. Wardell, has been before the public forty-five years and for twenty-three years has been a member of Sir Henry Irving's Lyceum company. She loves to tell of her debut, made when she was but eight years old. "I was cast for the part of Mamillia in 'The Winter's Tale,'" she says, "and how my heart swelled with pride when they told me what to do. I can see myself as though it were yesterday in my little red and white coat—very short—very pink stockings and with a row of tight sausage curls clustering around my head."

It was her wonderful interpretation of Portia in 1875 that awakened the public, and this role she has since acted over 500 times. When Henry Irving first took charge of the Lyceum in December, 1878, Ellen Terry's portrayal of Olivia in the "Wear of Wakefield" had just received the enthusiastic plaudits of the public.

FIELD MARSHAL LORD ROBERTS.

For some time it has been confidently predicted that this month would witness the retiring of Lord Roberts from the office of commander in chief of the British army. It is said that his experiences as head of the war office have been far from pleasant and that he has contemplated resigning for several months.

THE SUCCESSFUL SUITOR

(Original.)

Marion Martin would marry none but a brave man. She had plenty of suitors, but since there were no evidences of their courage she would not have any of them. Finally, fearing that she would die an old maid, she determined to accept John Knowlton, a fine looking fellow, standing 6 feet 2 in. his stockings, provided he would submit himself to a test. The next time John came she told him that she would do so upon his giving practical evidence that he was no coward. He consented, and Marion told him to spend a night in the family vault in the cemetery. John did not feel overpleased at being called upon to submit to such an ordeal, but he went with Marion to the cemetery, which was near by, and she let him in to the vault. The door, which was an iron grating, was left unlocked, it being understood that John might leave the place whenever he wished. As Marion went away he stood looking at her through the bars, and she threw him a kiss.

Marion had no idea of leaving her lover to endure his watch unmolested. She had other lovers, who were to participate in the trial of courage. Edward Leonard, a chipper little fellow who was always spoiling for a fight, called on her by appointment as soon as she got home and was told to wait a sheet about him and walk all night back and forth past the family vault, groaning at intervals. If he held his ground till morning, Marion would be his. Larned accepted the terms joyfully, and taking a sheet, went to the cemetery.

He had not been long gone when a third lover, Ernest Trevor, appeared at the Martin home.

"What is it, Marion?" he asked. "I have called for you to give you an answer to what you said to me on Christmas eve last."

"Well?" "I like you well enough to marry you if you will prove your courage. Go to our family vault in the cemetery. You will find it unlocked. Enter and remain there all night."

"I will do no such thing."

"No. There would be nothing for me to fear, but such an act would be senseless."

"Very well; there are others whom I can marry who will not give such a weak excuse to conceal their real motive—fear."

"You say that? By jingo, I will show you that I am not afraid to stay in your vault. But understand that I relinquish your hand."

Trevor went home for some blankets, thence to the cemetery, musing as he went: "What a silly girl! I thought she had more sense. Nevertheless, now I am in for it, I am rather pleased at the prospect of an adventure. Life is pretty dull in this old town."

Before he reached the vault he espied a ghostly figure walking back and forth before it and heard groans.

"What a little goose the girl is to put a man in a sheet to guard the place! Well, I'm in for it. I must drive the fellow away or get laughed at in the morning."

Just as he was about to advance upon Larned the gate of the vault opened, and a figure dashed out and away with the rapidity of lightning. The ghost, after stopping to look at the flying figure, renewed its walk and its groans.

"I don't propose to come out at the tail of this business," Ernest said. "I've agreed to occupy the vault, and I can't sleep with that fellow making those unearthly groans all night. Either he or I must move on."

Larned suddenly received a blow in the back which landed him a dozen feet away on the gravel walk. Before he could get up he was knocked down again and again till finally, regaining his feet, he fled precipitately.

"Now I think I will turn in," said Ernest, and, going to the vault, he entered and, spreading on the floor the blankets he had brought with him, sprang into them and was soon sound asleep.

Marion arose early and went to the cemetery. Her heart was beating very fast with expectation, and she was impatient to know whether the splendid John Knowlton had proved himself a brave man. As she approached the vault and saw no one walking before it she knew that Larned at least had not won. Going nearer, she stopped and listened. There was the sound of a prodigious snore. Surely that came from the powerful lungs of Knowlton. Then she looked in between the bars, and there was Ernest stretched out fast asleep.

The man who had won her had relinquished her before doing so.

"Ernest! Ernest! Ernest!" she called, raising her voice with each call. Ernest awoke, yawned and saw the face peeping through the bars.

"What do you mean by waking a fellow at this early hour? Go away." And he turned over for another nap.

"Come; wake up. I want to hear about—about the others."

"What others? I saw a ghost walking before this place when I came, and as I knew I couldn't sleep for his groans I dropped him away. I saw no one else except somebody who opened this door and dashed out."

"Ernest," she said after a pause, "did you really mean to give me up last night?"

"Yes. How do I know but you would want me to come out here and sleep after we were married? I prefer a bed."

Marion determined that she would marry Ernest Trevor willy nilly, and she did.

WARREN R. ATHERTON.

What the Raven Said.
As to the raven's power of speech the following story, which is given on the authority of Captain Brown, who vouches for its truth, will show how aptly it can talk:

A gentleman while traveling through a wood in the south of England was suddenly alarmed by hearing a shout of "Fair play, gentlemen; fair play!" uttered very earnestly in loud tones. The cry being repeated presently, the wayfarer thought it must proceed from some one in distress and at once began a search for him. In due course he came upon a couple of ravens attacking a third in a most brutal manner. He was so struck with the oppressed bird's appeal that he rescued it without delay.

It turned out that the lullies' victim was a tame raven belonging to a house in the neighborhood. Happily it knew how to use the catchwords it had so adroitly learned.—Little Folks Magazine.

To Light a Candle With Ice.
A candle may be lighted with a piece of ice. A small piece of metallic potassium is laid on the wick and touched with the ice when the water immediately produces a flame. This is due to the property of this metal to combine with oxygen rapidly on contact with water. This curious experiment is to be made with great caution, as if too much of the potassium is used an explosion will take place.—Boston Globe.

TRIFLING WITH YOUR HEALTH

Is Like Playing With a Loaded Gun. If You Have Kidney Trouble Attend to It At Once.

It is easy to tell whether your Kidneys or bladder are diseased. Take a bottle or glass tumbler and fill it with urine. If there is a sediment—a powder-like substance—after standing a day and a night, if it is pale or discolored, rosy or stringy, there is something wrong with the Kidneys. Other sure signs of disease are a desire to urinate often, pain in the back, or if your urine stains linen.

There is no question that Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is the best and surest medicine in the world for diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Bladder and Blood, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Chronic Constipation, and the sicknesses peculiar to women. It quickly relieves and cures inability to hold urine and the necessity of getting up a number of times during the night, and puts an end to the scalding pain when passing urine.

The Rev. Henry P. Miller, pastor of Baptist Church, Spartanburg, S. C., writes:

"For eleven years I suffered with kidney, liver and heart troubles, swimming in the head, dull headache and numbness of the limbs. Several physicians prescribed for me and I took different medicines, but none of them did me any good. I then began the use of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and in about two weeks was entirely well."

All druggists sell Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy in the New 50 Cent Size and the regular $1.00 size bottles.

JEFF. LAIRD IS AGAIN IN TROUBLE

LITTLE DAUGHTER OF MR. FRANK THOME THE VICTIM.

Embraced the Child and Took Improper Liberties With Her on Main Street Wednesday.

Frank Laird, a well known tailor, better known as Jeff Laird, was locked up in a cell at the city prison Wednesday night and a serious charge was filed against him Thursday morning.

About 10 o'clock Wednesday night, little Grace Thome, aged about 12 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thome, was playing about her father's place of business, the fruit stand at the corner of Third and Main streets, waiting for her parents to close up the stand and go home with her.

She was running up and down the sidewalk and in front of Seward's grocery (formerly the Johnson saloon) she was accosted by Laird, who took hold of her and wanted to kiss her saying, "Your father said I could kiss you."

The little girl resented the fellow's advances and attempted to elude him, but he took hold of her and dragged her into the doorway at Seward's grocery where he hugged and kissed her and took other undue and improper liberties, at the same time attempting to smother any outcry. The little girl struggled to free herself and nearly succeeded when Joseph Bader, the merchant policeman, came along, and seeing the situation, promptly arrested Laird, and turned him over to Lieut. Sutton and Officer Bell, by whom he was taken to the city prison.

The indignant father was almost beside himself, and it was a good thing for Laird that he was quickly taken to the city prison, as he would have certainly been roughly handled.

As it was Mr. Thome went to the city prison, and making a great effort to control himself asked to see Laird as he wished to talk to him a little.

Night Turnkey Sasser, realizing the father's state of mind, and fearing a tragedy, refused to bring Laird from his cell, and after becoming calmer Mr. Thome returned up town.

Thursday morning he went before Mayor Forry and filed an affidavit charging Laird with assault and battery with intent to commit a criminal assault.

The trial was set by the Mayor for 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

The prisoner "Jeff" Laird is a well known character in police circles and has been, on several occasions in serious trouble from which he succeeded in extricating himself with comparatively light punishment.

In the summer of 1898 Laird is said to have attempted to criminally assault a Miss Oatman, a highly respected young woman of "Oklahoma." He left town before he could be arrested and soon afterward was arrested in Cincinnati for stealing a watch, for which he was sent to the workhouse. After his time was out Officer James McCrum went to Cincinnati, and brought Laird back to Newark.

The attempted crime on Miss Oatman was charged against him, and he was bound over to the grand jury, which found an indictment against him. At the September term, 1898, when his case came up for trial, he offered a plea of guilty of assault and battery, which was accepted by the state, and he was sentenced to 90 days in jail, which he served.

He then went to Columbus, and soon after was indicted for larceny by the Franklin county grand jury, but at his trial was acquitted.

Laird is a man of considerable intelligence and has a good address when sober.

Hard times in Germany are said to have caused a large diminution in the consumption of wine and spirituous liquors.
